WHAT PEOPLE ARE SAYING

Dr. Cindy was outstanding! She exceeded our expectations and was one of our top 5 presentations from over 50 sessions.

Our goal was to bring more diversity to our keynote speaker lineup for a 7,000+ global convention, and finding female keynote speakers to discuss Business and Sales was tough. Dr. Cindy was great to work with, collaborated with us in promoting the event, and delivered a highly engaging session on sales. Even tying in several of our branding points into her session. With several thousand people watching it, she was rated in the top 3 speakers in our event feedback survey, and her session was translated into 7 languages. I would gladly work with Cindy again. Total professional and content is actionable for attendees.

Dani Garcia Velazco, MSC, Seasoned Experiential Marketer & Global Director of Events, Building Physical and Virtual Events!

Dr. Cindy spoke on how to advance your career with the mindset that “every job is a sales job”...

Approximately 5,000 employees tuned in for her session. She provided a roadmap for participants on how to take control of their personal and professional success. Cindy was wonderful to work with. She was crisp, clear, and concise. Her follow-up and follow-through were impeccable. She quickly understood what we hoped she would deliver, and she customized her message based on what we thought would resonate most and be most meaningful to our audience. Dr. Cindy's approach is relatable and effective. She provided examples and tools to make her approach understandable and actionable. But most of all Dr. Cindy is authentic, funny, high-energy, and is clearly a subject matter expert on the mindset of “every job is a sales job.

Kenna Eilers, Learning & Development Program Manager, T-Mobile

Dr. Cindy has been a sponsored speaker for internal and external events ranging from the Internal Women's Development Session about personal branding, as well as external events we sponsored with a season on sales and overall professional skill development. All the events were very successful, with positive feedback on content and engagement. I highly recommend Cindy. Her approach mixes simplicity with easy, actionable takeaways, creating measurable ROIs for the participants.
